MUSIC CLUB CONCERT IS BRILLIANT

Artists Give Wonderful
Program to Full House

WERE HANDICAPPED
Miss Cleophas Showed Exceptional Skill at Piano

The concert given by the Glendale Music club Friday evening in the high school auditorium drew an excellent audience in spite of the rain, and while all had anticipated an evening of great enjoyment, it is safe to declare that the program exceeded their expectations.

It was a most appreciative group of listeners who spontaneously manifested their pleasure in frequent applause, recalling all the artists for encores, which were generously given.

While Miss Gertrude Cleophas, the pianiste, and Miss Ruth Hutchinson were the outstanding artists, the composer pianist, Charles T. Ferry, did wonderfully artistic work as an accompanist, which held the absorbed attention of many listeners.

In spite of the handicap of a piano in which one of the pedal sticks was missing, Miss Cleophas succeeded in charming and impressing an audience which included critical musicians, with her interpretations of Beethoven, Chopin and other numbers, the Sonata, Opus 6, with which the program opened, being of special beauty, particularly the stately "Marcia Funebre" movement.

In the encore which followed her concluding program numbers, her technique was splendidly displayed in a melodious composition which brought an ovation of applause that must have been highly gratifying to the artist.

Miss Hutchinson was discovered to be a charming young brunette blessed with a dramatic soprano voice which has the freshness of the morning. Her voice control was wonderful and her pianissimo a delight.

Her list of encores included the highly appropriate "In Time of Rain," "The Damsel," and one other which followed the repetition of "Crimson nor Yellow Roses." This is the composition of Mr. Ferry and the audience asked to hear it again.

Preceding the program, the club was addressed by its president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, who announced the concert to be given by the junior auxiliary as an open night, before the parent organization January 20, and also announced that something especially nice in the program line was preparing for February 3. On the third Friday in February the club will celebrate its first birthday with a unique and delightful program which is a dead secret, but which she promised would realize all the expectations its announcement might arouse.

For the information of proud parents she also stated that wherever demonstrations of the work in music of high school pupils had been given in which Glendale students had participated, they had headed the list. In that connection she paid in passing a tribute to Mrs. Dorla Gibson, head of the department.

She called attention to announcements in the monthly bulletin of the club, which is just out, and also to the federation bulletin, which had been distributed at the door, and urged response to the call for records of good music to form a library which the music federation is seeking to accumulate for the use of rural schools.

BIG DIVIDEND
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—Application to the state railroad commission to authorize the distribution of a stock dividend amounting to $679,976 to holders of common stock was made by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company today.

"THE PIG" SAYS LOVELY MERRY MARY GARDEN

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—A writer of poison pen letters who has terrorized wealthy society matrons of Chicago's Gold coast, today threatened the life of Mary Garden, director of the Chicago Opera company.

Miss Garden received a box containing a revolver and six cartridges. The writer said she retained three cartridges for use on Miss Garden and "hoped soon to see her body floating down the Chicago river."

The case was reported to Chief of Police Fitzmorris by Miss Garden.

"Why, the pig!" was the only comment Miss Garden would make when asked about the incident.

Divorce Collusion Is Subject Taken by Mr. Henry James

The wife bases her divorce suit on desertion. The husband has left her. That is certain. The judge asks her if she is sorry over his absence. She is not. Collusion, says the judge, and refuses her the decree.

That's the case that Henry James cites in his comments on the news of the day this evening, and he unburdens himself in a manner about judges and divorce courts that makes interesting reading.

In "The Listening Post" tonight, James W. Foley speaks of his neighbor and likens himself to that neighbor and his ways and his habits and his dreams and his hopes. It's another little Foley sermon worth your consideration.

You will find editorials on timely subjects, features full of inspiration and education, and Dr. Frank Crane writes on "Ediscoveries." It's a good editorial page to read regularly.

MACLAREN TALKS TO HIGH STUDENTS

Delights Audience With Well Presented Themes and Narratives

At an assembly held Friday, students of Glendale union high school were privileged to hear Mr. MacLaren, a celebrated lecturer and reader. Mr. MacLaren addressed the assembly first on the "Sweet Poet of Scotland," Robert Burns. He told of the circumstances under which Burns wrote his poems or "songs," how, as a poor working boy, songs and verses were continually swelling from his heart. His subjects were varied, from the worm on the ground to the glorious sunset. Mr. MacLaren paid a great tribute to "Highland Mary" in closing his talk.

A few minutes later the audience was surprised and delighted to see the poet himself, apparently in costume, brogues and all, appear before them on the stage. He then gave a number of his most famous poems, among them "Highland Mary," "The Cotter's Saturday Night," and "John Anderson, My Jo." He also told of some of the experiences that inspired the songs.

The "two" men were enjoyed very much by the school, and it is hoped that the rest of Glendale may have a chance to hear him.

Mr. MacLaren is from Pasadena and is much interested in the work of student bodies of the state. He was favorably impressed with Glendale high school and the community. Referring to the Glendale float of this year, he stated that it was one of the best floats that ever went down the streets of Pasadena.

quet Latter Part of Month

At the election of officers of Glendale Post No. 127 of the American Legion last night, James F.

JAMES F. MCBRYDE

McBryde, retiring adjutant was elected commander. Chalmers Day was named first vice-president and Jesse Flower, second vice-president. Other officers elected were Joe Wilson, adjutant; Wilbur Lee, treasurer; Clarence Edwards, sergeant-at-arms; Rev. C. M. Calderwood, historian; and the executive committee is composed of Robert Plume, Charles B. Guthrie, E. O. Kiefer, W. B. Kelly, and M. Frug. Commander McBryde is one of Glendale's prominent attorneys and served during the war as company clerk in the detention camp at Camp Bowie, Fort Worth, Texas. He was recommended for a commission and the signing of the armistice and the general army order preventing the promotion of officers stopped his papers after they had been received at Camp Bowie.

Mr. McBryde has served as an officer in the Glendale post for a year and a half. He was adjutant for one year and was succeeded by H. G. Bracken, who resigned after six months on account of outside business and Mr. McBryde was appointed to finish the unexpired term.

The election of officers occupied practically the entire evening but there was time for some excellent singing and several piano selections by comrades. Plans for a get-acquainted banquet were also made.

This banquet will be held on the evening of January 21 at the chamber of commerce auditorium. In addition to members of the Legion, all former service men in Glendale will be invited to attend. Plans are made to accommodate about 200 people and several prominent men will speak. The selection of officers was carried out in the best of feeling.

MOTHER TO GIVE TO HIGH BIDDER

Someone May Think to Give Mother Funds to Keep Babe

OMAHA, Jan. 7.—An upborn babe was offered to the highest bidder today by a mother who already has six little ones. The woman, who lives in a small Nebraska town, asked an Omaha newspaper to conduct the "auction" for her. She asked that her name be not used and her wishes will be respected. Offers for the child are to be sent to the newspaper and then transmitted to the prospective mother. The woman does not want money for the child. The successful bidder will be the one that gives the child the best home and education.

"I love all my children," the woman declared, "but my husband is out of work and we are in straitened circumstances and I do not see how we can care for the newcomer."

COMMITTEE GETS DOWN TO WORK ON BETTERMENTS

Civic Body of Chamber Plans Much for City's Welfare

The newly appointed civic committee for the chamber of commerce held its first meeting Friday night where the chairman, Dr. Jessie A. Russell presided.

The scope of this committee's activities has to do not only with municipal affairs but also with county matters which effect the interests of Glendale. Topics outlined for discussion at the next meeting, Tuesday evening, January 10th at 7:00 o'clock, include sewer system, the proposed zoning ordinance, specifications for the new swimming pool in the new city park, location of the bath houses and general landscaping of the park, lowering of the Pacific Electric tracks on Brand boulevard, suitable depot accommodations in Los Angeles for Glendale patrons.

The committee was also pleased with Mr. Lindsay's plan which calls for four class rooms, administration offices and lavatories. It also provides for expansion along harmonious lines by additions which might eventually bring it to sixteen rooms, and also include an auditorium. That however is all in the future as the present plan in the future as the present plan calls for but four rooms besides the offices, the construction to be of brick or hollow tile with plaster exterior.

Mr. Lindsay stated that his plans would be ready for bids within ten days and that if all went well, the contract could be let on the first of February. The balance of the school year will probably be required to construct the building.

EAST GLENDALE CITIZENS MEET

Small Sized Jubilee Over
Selection of Lukens
Site

An enthusiastic meeting was held Thursday evening at the Broadway school by the East Glendale Welfare Association at which the formal report of the outcome of the recent school bond election was added and the sum used over to Mr. West, janitor of the Broadway school who had faithfully attended all the campaign meetings and made it his business to see that heat and light were provided.

J. C. Sherer, who presided over the meeting, said it was something novel in his experience for a campaign fund to come through with a surplus. While the amount was small, it was a substantial recognition of the service rendered by Mr. Ross which was appreciated by him.

The increase in Pacific Electric fares was discussed with many forcible expressions against it. Several expressed the hope that the Glendale avenue line would soon be electrified.

A committee headed by J. C. Sherer was appointed to ascertain the present status of the proceedings for the improvement of Sycamore canyon boulevard and to re-open the meeting, when the association will return to its old night and assemble Monday evening, February 6.

DR. RUSSELL HAS SOLD HER HOME

This residence consists of eight rooms and is one of the beauty places of Glendale. It is Dr. Russell's intention to erect another home in Glendale in the spring. Dr. Russell says she will remain in Glendale.

DISTRESS SIGNALS IN RINGS NOW

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—Introducing the "divorce ring" designed as a successor to the wedding ring when successors are in order.

James Dolan designed it. Bessie Guthrie, San Francisco divorcee, claims to have worn it first.

Bessie puts it on her little finger, right next door to where the wedding ring used to be. It's made of gold, decorated with a broken cupid's bow.

There's room for jewels upon it—one jewel to be added for each divorce.

The purpose—well it's to protect the youth of the land against grass widows.

SCHOOL BOARD HAS APPROVED PLANS FOR GRAND VIEW

Decide Upon Location of Building at Friday
Session

The proposed conference on the site of the Grand View school was held Friday as planned, those present being E. H. Learned, the Grand View member of the general advisory committee of nineteen appointed several months ago, Mr. E. H. Bolford, Mrs. Buckman, Architect Lindsay, David Black of the board of education and Superintendent Richardson D. White.

Together they went over the plans for the building and also the question of its location on the site and discovered on consulting the map that the streets bounding it do not run north and south and east and west, and that they could therefore place the building that it would face northeast on what is now known as Fifth street. This was found to work out very well and was unanimously approved, as it would locate the building on the highest point of land.

The committee was also pleased with Mr. Lindsay's plan which calls for four class rooms, administration offices and lavatories. It also provides for expansion along harmonious lines by additions which might eventually bring it to sixteen rooms, and also include an auditorium. That however is all in the future as the present plan in the future as the present plan calls for but four rooms besides the offices, the construction to be of brick or hollow tile with plaster exterior.

Mr. Lindsay stated that his plans would be ready for bids within ten days and that if all went well, the contract could be let on the first of February. The balance of the school year will probably be required to construct the building.

HIGH STUDENTS RECEIVE MEDALS

Underwood Co. Sent Four Bronze Prizes to Local Students

Miss Gertrude Ballard, head of the typewriting department of the commercial division of Glendale High, has been advised in a letter from the Underwood Typewriter Co. dated at New York, December 21, that the papers for the contest of the Underwood typewriter contest held at the school in October and November, had been carefully rechecked and showed that in the October contest 41 words per minute had been made by Miss Naomi Lucas and in the November contest 44 words each per minute had been made by Carolyn Grey and Lucy Strother, and 41 words by David Riskin.

These records entitled the four young people to bronze medals, which were enclosed with the letter. Under separate cover certificates were forwarded to be given to eleven other contestants who had made 30 or more and less than 40, the list including: Marion Hale (34), Dorothy Danner (34), Ruth James (38), Hilda Foote (37), Bryant Small (35), Helen Ponton (32) and Margaret Fife (30).

TERRORS OF RAIN JOY FOR SCOUTS

Troop Members Held
First Meeting in Clubhouse

Last Sunday Dr. Walter B. Scaife whose home is in Florence, Italy, but who is spending the winter at Loma Linda, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Robinson of this city. Following the dinner Troop 2, Glendale Boy Scouts, gave him a reception at their new club house in Verdugo Woodlands. In spite of the rain, 18 boys in uniform were there to welcome him and he gave them a most interesting account of his recent experiences in the island of Tahiti in the South Seas.

Dr. Scaife is an honorary member of the troop and the boys were very glad to see him again after an absence of a year. Friday night the troop had its first real scout meeting in its club house and notwithstanding the rain, 29 were present. Final plans were made for the dedication of the club house which is to take place Saturday evening the 14th.

One of the two special wants of the troop, a wood cooking stove, has been supplied. It still lacks the phonograph, however. It would also be glad to have some good books of a character to be of interest to boys from 12 to 18 years of age.

MRS. DELMONT MAY NOT BE CALLED

Judge Before Whom Case
to Be Tried Receives Threat

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—Bambina Maude Delmont, "the avenger" of the Roscoe (Patty) Arbuckle case, may be eliminated as a possible factor in Arbuckle's second trial, it became known today.

District Attorney Matthew Brady was said to have practically determined to try Arbuckle on the grand jury indictment charging him with manslaughter in taking the life of Virginia Rappe, and not the charge sworn to by Mrs. Delmont. Such a move would have no effect excepting to remove Mrs. Delmont as the complaining witness.

Mrs. Delmont is now on probation following a plea of guilty in Madera county to a charge of bigamy.

Arbuckle was to arrive in San Francisco late today preparatory to the calling of his case, which is expected some time the latter part of next week.

Judge Harold Louderback today attached little significance to a note he received reading: "Arbuckle or you will not live six months if he is freed." The note is one of several various parties in the case have received, it was said.

JAP MAINLAND NOT IN TREATY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The four powers which signed the treaty to preserve the peace of the Pacific and to scrap the Anglo-Japanese alliance have agreed to interpreting the pact as excluding from its protective scope the mainland of Japan, Arthur J. Balfour told the United Press today. This agreement undoubtedly will remove the biggest obstacle in the path of senate ratification of the pact.

The heads of the various church organizations in Glendale have very interesting services planned for Sunday, both as to sermon themes and musical numbers as well.

All will be sunshine in Glendale churches tomorrow with one exception. There will be sadness in the Pacific Avenue Methodist church. Rev. Harley G. Preston, the beloved pastor, is suffering the grief that comes to all of us. His mother has passed across the chasm between life and the thing we call

THIRTY MILLIONS SAVED PEOPLE BY CONGRESS ACT

Fifty Per Cent Surtax Gets Huge Sum from Wealth

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—One thousand and eighty-eight of the nation's wealthiest people would have saved $30,000,000 this year if congress has heeded the administration's request and fixed the maximum surtax rate at forty instead of fifty per cent, it was revealed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in a letter to Representative Sweet, Iowa.

These figures, showing the big amounts a small number of people would have pocketed under the surtax rates, were given on behalf of farm leaders in the house, who fought for the higher rate, and Sweet declared the secretary's revelations to justify the opposition of the agricultural representatives during the tax fight.

The maximum surtax of 50 per cent applies to incomes above $200,000 a year. The 1919 returns, Mellon said, showed 1451 persons reported net incomes above that mark, but he estimated the number this year would be reduced to 1,088.

"The treasury estimates," Mellon wrote, "that for the calendar year 1922 there will be 1,088 individuals with net incomes in excess of $200,000 and a total net income of $425,600,000."

HANNA CHANGED WILL IS THOUGHT

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 7.—The will of the late Daniel Rodes Hanna, millionaire publisher, ordered probated by Surrogate George Slater. The surrogate ordered that the marginal notations by Hanna, all of which were blotted out with ink, be disregarded. Miss June Avis Evans, said to be engaged to Hanna, did not file an objection to the probate, although she was in court.

Some of the marginal notations could be read through the ink, declaring Hanna's intention to make Miss Evans his fifth wife and directing that she be given $25,000 a year and his country home at Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y.

TRIANGLE HITS CUPID DEATH BLOW

BEST CHRISTMAS CITY'S HISTORY

"Glendale had the best Christmas in her history," said Mr. Litzenberg of the Glendale Auto Wash Rack, this morning. "There probably was not a family in Glendale that was not visited by Santa Claus and all the old folks, as well as the little ones, were made glad. But Christmas is past, and in a matter of history. The New Year is ahead of us. New Year, this year, in Glendale promises to be the best and most prosperous in the city's history. Everything is 'looking up,' as they say. Everyone seems to be filled with that hopeful spirit that really gets somewhere. They are more hopeful of the future of Glendale than they have ever been, and for this enthusiasm there is a reason."

"The automobile washing and greasing business is picking up. The people of Glendale are beginning to realize the value of having their cars washed and greased regularly, for to have their machines cared for in this manner results in a maximum of appearance and a minimum of expense. This is not a theory, but a fact."

"We thank the people of Glendale for the patronage they have afforded us in the past and feel confident that our work is such as would please them to bring us their washing, cleaning, greasing and Simonizing work in the future. We take care of every car as though it were our own. That's why our business is growing."

GOOD POLICY TO CONTINUE IN 1922

"Ferg" and "Web" of the Standard garage, corner Broadway and Kenwood, say that they are going to continue their "satisfaction or no pay" policy throughout 1922. This policy has been so well received throughout the year that has just closed and it has resulted in such satisfactory dealings between mechanic and customer that they have decided to continue it through the present year. The "entirely satisfaction or no pay" policy is in many cases far more costly to the mechanics than is the hit or miss sort of work done by some garages, but these boys feel that if they cannot apply the Golden Rule to every job they will get out of business altogether.

"We find that the square deal to every customer is the best policy to pursue. We have been following this plan since opening up at our present stand and the people of Glendale seem to appreciate the manner in which we are taking care of them."

BATTERIES NEED NEW TREATMENT

"There are few people who realize that the storage battery should be given different treatment in the winter than it requires in the summer," says the Westinghouse Battery Service, 233 South Brand boulevard, this morning. "In the winter the battery requires more charge and in the summer more water. The motorist who would have a new operating battery all the while would do well to pay attention to these details. We are glad at all times to inspect the battery, wire connections of any car, and wherever the attention of an expert is required we always give the motorist a square deal."

STANDARD ACTS ON BILL TONIGHT

Five acts of standard vaudeville will be presented at the Glendale theatre tonight, in addition to the picture, "The Last Door," featuring Eugene O'Brien, Ed Baisden and the "conversing cockatoo" will feature the vaudeville bill, with Billy Moore, blackface comedian, the Fords in a comedy singing and talking act, Runyan & Trent, the boys who put the "u" in fun, and the fun in "U" and the Walters, versatile entertainers. Tomorrow, Tom Moore will be seen in his best picture, "Beating the Game." The organ recitals are always popular and the one tomorrow will be no exception. "The Last Door," Eugene O'Brien's latest picture, which is featured at the Glendale theatre tonight, is a crook play of the type made famous by "Jimmy Valentine," "Deluxe Annie," "Kick In" and others that boast a gentle fibre, although the plot and story are along decidedly original lines.

SHORT CUT FOR WHEEL ALIGNMENT

When it is desired to check up wheel alignment the following is the proper method of procedure:

Turn the steering wheel so that the front wheels are the same distance away from the frame. Measure the distance between the fronts of the two front wheels on a line with the hub. Then measure the distance between the rears of the two wheels at the same elevation. The rear measurements should be greater and the difference will vary with the make of car.

TO DRAIN OIL FROM CRANKCASE

Certain cars have no way of draining the crankcase from underneath, and the problem of getting out the oil is difficult under some conditions. The best plan, however, is to disconnect the feed pipe to the gauge and place its end in a bucket. Start the motor and run slowly. In this way the oil is drawn out of the crankcase into the bucket or other receptacle.

ROAD SIGNING TO BEGIN EARLY DATE

For the first time in history, an American motoring organization is going to embark on an international road signing undertaking. This announcement has just been made by the Automobile Club of Southern California, which is preparing to mark the new Mexican national boulevard leading from the boundary of the United States to the port of Ensenada on the coast of Lower California.

This undertaking, in a way, is the most important of the many already completed by the organization which has marked the transcontinental highways of the nation and provided 83,000 road signs for the traveling automobile tourists of the United States.

Straight into the heart of what is considered by sportsmen to be the happiest of all quail, duck and deer hunting grounds goes the new highway built by the government of Lower California by a tremendous cost and covering a period of two years in construction.

All signs to be erected by the Auto Club for the guidance of international motoring parties will conform to the foreign metric system of mileage, and will be given in Spanish as well as English. Motorists of this continent who choose to travel to Ensenada over the new boulevard will get their first taste of the European metric mileage directions.

The new road is sixty-eight miles in length from the boundary line to the Lower California seaport, and is one of the most scenic routes on the continent of North America, according to Automobile Club officials who have just completed an inspection and charting trip into Mexico as guests of Governor Ybarra and Superintendent of Roads Miguel Gandara.

HARRY WHITE NOW SELLS H.C.S. CARS

The lure of gasoline, the spirit of close competition, proved too much for Harry E. White, and he has forsaken his resolution to retire from the motor car business.

White made a name for himself and for the Studebaker in Glendale until he sold out, and his many friends all said he was foolish to step out. So White is staging a return engagement. His ideals and his desires have grown into the most exclusive class among motor cars, and the "H. C. S." will fly under the colors of Harry E. White, Inc.

It was a mutual admiration party held last month, when E. W. Taber of the Walter M. Brown company, Southern California distributors for the H. C. S., and Harry White sat down on opposite sides of the big mahogany desk. White long ago appreciated the H. C. S. and Taber well knew of White and his reputation. It took them above five minutes to get together and fold the signed contracts and slip them into their inside pockets.

"The H. C. S. is going to be just as well known in Glendale as I am," says White, "and I know the people of Glendale will take kindly to the H. C. S. because it fills a long-felt want among a certain class of motorists."

"This famous little car is a product of the genius of Harry C. Stutz, whose name is tantamount to success in motor car circles. Stutz has vision. He saw the inevitable, the doom of the heavy expensive car. But he also saw that the people would demand all the same luxury and individuality in the light car that they had been accustomed to in their big cars."

"Hence, the H. C. S. is not merely a happenstance. It is the product of a definite idea, mechanically perfected and from an engineering standpoint about as near ideal as has been developed. It has style and smartness, comfort and convenience, and gets more than 20 miles to a gallon of gasoline."

AUTO BUSINESS GOOD SAYS HALL

"Things along the automobile line are booming in the south end of the city," said Mr. Hall of the South Glendale garage. "For several weeks there has been a gradual increase in the business we have been receiving, and from where we stand things are looking rosy in the extreme. Our increased business may be resulting from the fact that we put the best we have in every job. Those who have done business with us know that we spare no pains in doing a job right. It may cost us a little more to do work in this way, but if we can't do work properly, we will not do it."

"Another point is that we bend every effort to get our work out in time. We do not believe a job is properly done unless it is gotten out at the time set for the job to be delivered. Our prices, also, are right. Every motorist who trades with us gets a square deal. That is why we secure repeat orders."

"Yes, sir, business in South Glendale is picking up every day, and we are looking for a wonderful year in every line throughout 1922. Just watch South Glendale grow."

The driver who rides along at a regular rate of 22 to 25 miles an hour gets more out of his car, both in speed, mileage and comfort, than he who is constantly spurring and letting down. Besides, spurring does not help the engine or transmission any.

The battery should be given different attention in the winter than in the summer. More water in the summer, more charge in the winter. Loose terminals or other poor contacts render the battery's functioning very erratic. Flickering lights, a silent horn and a dead starter may result from poor contact or a weak battery. If any of the wires are touching the frame of the car, due to worn insulation, it will cause a short-circuit and ruin your battery.

INDUSTRY GROWS
LIVE STOCK LINE*Stockmen to Meet in Los Angeles Next Saturday

The breeding of pure bred live stock in Southern California is assuming proportions of such magnitude and general importance that those engaged in this work have found it advisable to effect an organization embracing those interested in promoting the various breeds of cattle, hogs, horses and sheep.

These stockmen have organized under the name of the Southern California Pure Bred Livestock association, with H. Michel, of the Santa Monica Dairy company of Venice, president; George W. Thomas, dairymen and breeder of Jersey cattle of Arlington, vice-president, and W. W. Van Pelt, secretary of the Southern California fair at Riverside, secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors is composed of the following: horses, Percherons, F. L. Hall, Perris; Clydesdales, John Troup, Santa Barbara; cattle, Holsteins, R. N. Clapp, Nuevo; Jerseys, George W. Thomas, Arlington; Guernseys, Walter P. Dupee, Riverside; Ayrshires, Mark Butterfield, Riverside; dairy shorthorns, F. A. Langdon, Perris; beef shorthorns, Frank C. Collier, Wildomar; Herefords, D. H. Oeden, Alpine; Aberdeen Angus, F. E. Peabody, Santa Barbara; swine, Duroc-Jerseys, J. C. Craig, Owensmouth; Berkshire, Alex. M. Wilson, Guasti; Hampshire, A. E. Harvey, Redlands; Poland China, Charles Macdonald, Santa Ana; Sheep, J. J. Prendergast, Redlands.

At a recent meeting of the directors held in Los Angeles it was decided to hold a general meeting of stockmen in Los Angeles on Saturday, January 14, at noon, at which time a program of work for the coming year will be presented and the machinery for carrying on this work discussed and arranged for.

The introduction, development and protection of pure bred stock is a problem of paramount importance in Southern California. There is a limitless field open to this development; climate, soil and every agricultural condition lends itself to the encouragement of this industry. The promoters of this organization have in mind a definite system of work to remove as far as possible some of the many bumps in this road, to place the purebred animal on every farm and ranch and to encourage better breeding conditions generally.

As this is a move in the interest of every stockman, a large membership in this organization is urged.

AN INTERESTING
SUNDAY PROGRAM

death and while there is rejoicing in heaven, there is grief in the flock of Pastor Preston.

Services in the city churches will be as follows:

FIRST LUTHERAN
"Looking for Jesus" will be the subject by Dr. H. C. Funk for the morning service. The text is taken from the Lesson for the First Sunday after Epiphany, "Jesus Found Among the Doctors in the Temple." The young people of the church take full charge of the evening service, at 7:30, giving their monthly "Luther League Night" program. F. J. Bowman will preside, and C. A. Major will lead in the discussion of the subject, "Making Use of Our Opportunities."

CASA VERDUGO METHODIST

At the close of the service another large class of new members will be received. The subject for the evening service will be "Sweeping the House." Special music will be rendered at this time. Preceding the service the pastor will have something to say and some questions to ask concerning the attitude of the Road Commission, and the Pacific Electric railroad in relation to Glendale.

The subject of the sermon for Sunday morning will be "The Home Land," delivered by Mrs. M. M. Northup. In the evening the pastor will preach on "The Nature of True Religion." Very fine musical programs have been planned for both services. In the morning will be a piano prelude, "Jerusalem" (Parker). The choir will sing an anthem, "Father in Thy Mysterious Presence" (Scott). Mr. Will Marple will render a solo. Offertory, "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth," by Handel. PACIFIC AVENUE METHODIST
On account of the death of his mother, Rev. Harley G. Preston will not preach at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church on Sunday. There will be another speaker for the morning service, and in the evening Rev. W. L. Y. Davis, D.D., will deliver the sermon. All services will be conducted as usual.

FIRST BAPTIST
Rev. E. E. Ford will preach Sunday morning on the subject, "The Master and His Bible." This is the eleventh in the series on "The Life of the Master." The choir will sing "A Prayer" (Carrie B. Adams), and Mrs. Ray Bentley will sing "A Silent Voice" (Caro Romo).

The young people's meeting will be held at 6:30, everybody welcome. The subject for the evening service is "Strength for the Day." The choir will sing "My Saviour" (Charles M. Fillmore). Mrs. Park Arnold will render a solo, "The Master is Calling for Reapers."

Truths in Epigram

CONCERNING THE BIG GAME

The football game that was a part of Pasadena's Tournament of Roses has passed into history. It is well worth remembering. And there will be future games. The whole state is interested in this circumstance. It might be wise to come to a definite understanding in relation to the games to come.

There is no secret about the fact that the California team did not consent to play in the south until the matter had been put on a financial basis. They came for $50,000, but with many grumblings as to the low quality of their opponents. These opponents proved themselves capable of making an excellent showing with any eleven figuring in American sports.
They had a perceptible shade the better of the California team. They had asked only their expenses.
It was fitting that they should have been given remuneration equal to that received by the western players.

The custom of having the best football teams pro-
curable in Pasadena each New Year, was inaugurated by the Tournament of Roses management.
Intimations have been strong that the right to continue the custom is to be disputed. It is said that if California plays in the south again, it will be with a team of its own choosing, and under terms dictated by itself. One may be pardoned for discerning in this a touch of arrogance, as in the preliminaries to the game just over, there came from the same source
a strong flavor of commercialism.

An outcome highly satisfactory, to this end of the state at least, would be the development of a team competent to take the coast championship away from California. After the showing it made against Washington and Jefferson, such an event assumes the aspect of reasonable possibility.

THE PLACE AND THE MAN

Los Angeles now has a new chief of police. He is Col. James W. Everington. The colonel, still in his early forties, served with distinction in the army. He bears honorable medals won in the great war. His wound received there caused his retirement. He is brave and able. These facts stand forth from his record.

The entire community of cities clustered around Los Angeles is concerned in the conduct of the police in the larger place. They have observed with deep concern the prevalence of crime there, because they know that such crime must affect the morale and safety of their own neighborhood. Moreover, thousands of suburban residents visit Los Angeles daily,
and must take chances with conditions there.

Colonel Everington assumes office with the best wishes of everybody. Nevertheless it would be rash to predict his success. No one could succeed in the atmosphere of wire-pulling and petty intrigue that marked the career of the former chief, and drove him, admittedly a capable and devoted officer, back to civil life disgusted at the failure of his efforts.

Los Angeles is handicapped by the presence of criminals, criminal lawyers, and various sets of reformers.
The criminals and the criminal lawyers combine as client and counsel, to defeat the laws. Small jeal-ousies arise in the department, and in kindred departments, to thwart the plans of the chief. The reformers have a set of facts that they are forever holding in view. They tell the chief what he should do, and when he is too wise to do it, turn against him.

It would be a cheering spectacle to see Everington showing a lot of busyness the door, and throwing
the arrogant and immune evil doers into prison.
Probably he will undertake a program approximating
this. Doubt arises as to whether he can put it through. With all his training and reputation, he is a man, after all, and the need is for a super-man.

FRANCE AND JAPAN

The French minister of foreign affairs denies the existence of a secret treaty between France and Japan. The subject of the treaty was announced to Siberia. The allegation was made that by its terms, the course of Japan in Siberia would be upheld by France. The denial that such a treaty ever was made will be accepted as authentic.

There was a time when diplomacy took the form of secrecy and deception. Treaties were arranged in the dark. They were signed almost without public knowledge that there had been negotiations.
Often they were framed without regard to the popular desire. They bound nations to courses the nations did not approve of, and had not contemplated
as possible. That time is believed to have passed.

A treaty contrived by a handful of men sitting behind closed doors could as readily be broken by another set of men. It is doubtful if a treaty so contrived would be honored by the citizens of either nation, were it deemed opposed to their interests and to contravene their conceptions of justice. This has been one of the effects of the great war.

There is nothing in the four-power compact to imply that the United States would protect Japan in Siberia. This country does not concede that Japan has any rights in Siberia. The pledge is that Japan shall be protected in its lawful insular possessions.
There is no group of individuals invested with authority to bind the United States to aid Japanese aggression anywhere. Such aid would be contrary to every principle held dear by Americans.

Secret diplomacy still may be useful as a bugaboo. In real life, it cannot dominate. The people of this country will not tolerate it.

THE MINIMUM WAGE

A San Francisco factory has laid off twenty-five girl employees. The reason given is that the concern cannot afford to pay wages at the scale set by the Industrial Welfare commission.

This is exactly the outcome that might have been expected in instances. That the course taken by the employers was taken in good faith, has yet to be demonstrated. Opposition to the ruling was assured in advance. The discharge of these girls may be a mere phase of the opposition.

Pathetic portrayal of the eagerness of the girls to go back to work at whatever price, adds to the effectiveness of the appeal. It supplies the heart interest so essential to an effective narration.

Before the ruling was made, a most careful survey of the situation had been taken. Determination was reached as to the lowest possible sum that represented a decent living. The stipulated wage was made to cover this sum.

A girl who works certainly has the right to earn enough to take care of her needs. An often expressed opinion is that the concern that cannot make profits while paying adequate wages, would do a service to the community by going out of business.
Such a concern is doing nothing to add to the general prosperity. On the contrary, it is a handicap to employers who feel it a duty to pay at a fair rate, and who have to meet the competition of those averse to such course.

"LIFE IS TOO MUCH"

The note left by a girl suicide was: "Life is too much for me." She had been trying to make her own living. She was a good girl, with fine ideals. Circumstances buffeted her cruelly, so that she sought
peace in death.

Commenting on this in kindly spirit, Arthur Brisbane asks: "How many towards the end, can say that it really has been worth while, yet we all hang on."

We hang on because life has been worth while.
Because to most of us it has given more light than shadows. Because patience and wisdom come with years, and the philosophy of age lifts us above the despair that might grow out of sorrow. Because there is, save in rare cases, the hope of happiness, if not here, in some good time, some time appointed.

It is not to be marveled at that a young and refined and sensitive girl, cast upon her own resources, should falter, and even fall utterly. She becomes aware of temptation, which she may scorn, but the presence of which she resents. She may come in contact with uncharitableness and wrong. She may behold evil, gilded and gauged, while decency struggles with want.

But the great preponderance of evidence is that life
is worth while. It is the opportunity for happiness, not merely to be enjoyed by the individual, but to be created for others. The active body finds pleasure in its tasks, the active mind joys in the pursuit of knowledge. And while the senses abide in the temple of flesh, none is too old to learn.

The possibility of a penitentiary sentence is about the only thing that can add to the dangers of football.

Yes, Rafalo, an autocrat is a meek little woman who never had an opinion of her own until about twenty-four hours after marriage.

Don't stay away from church on account of your clothes. The Lord is too busy to notice the handiwork of tailors and dressmakers.

REDISCOVERIES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Most of the discoveries which we make in youth
are valuable only as we rediscover them in later years.

In childhood and in school we are filled with impressions. Most of them lie in a sort of jumble until life coordinates them, or some of them, and brings them into some sort of useful unity.

Take books. Most of us read Dickens somewhere in our teens, and then perhaps at the age of forty we read him again
and are amazed at what we find.

We learn the Bible in our youth and most of its phrases remain for a long time with us as merely familiar caskets. It is only as experience opens these caskets one after another and discovers their contents that we are able to make use of them in dealing with life's realities.

Homer and Virgil and Dante and "Wilhelm Meister" and Shakespeare are tasted by most of us in youth. But it is only when we take them up in later years that there draws upon us something of the majesty and mastery of these minds.

Love comes to us with the blossoming of adolescence and seems to us an amazing revelation, a new miracle. But it is only after we have experienced disillusion and walked through the byways of cynicism
and wallowed through sloughs of doubt and come to the firm land of maturity that we really understand the far-reaching significance of love.

We make friends in youth and most of them disappear. It is only when we have rediscovered
some of these friends of former time and joined again the broken edges of our acquaintance that we grasp the deep significance of friendship.

We love our children when they are little and we see them grow up and drift from us. But fortunate are they who in adulthood rediscover their children and make of them new friends, yet with a background of invaluable memories.

Youth is youth. We are accustomed to think of youth as a mere period of time. But, wonderful as youth is in our twenties, it is not nearly so wonderful as when we rediscover it at fifty.

For youth is a point of view. It is attitude toward life. It is a spirit. It is not a passing epoch.

In fact, life is like a garden. The seeds are sown in its springtime and those early days are full of fresh and pleasant verdure. But it is only when the summer has come and gone and the autumn days are with us that we really find the most delicious fruits.

To a normal and sound life that has maintained
any career of continuous growth, its rediscoveries
are even greater than its discoveries.

ALL THE LISTENING POST

My neighbor.
Sometimes I think of him as something different from me.

Some people think of others as intruders in the world.
Come here they do not know how.
And remaining here they do not know why.

Just as some of our statesmen look upon other peoples as existing in the world by tolerance.
Not recognizing that other peoples have as much right in the world as we have.
And are here to work out a destiny.

So with my neighbor.
He is here with as much right as I have.
And is here to work out a destiny.

And when I look upon him as alien to the scheme of things that compasses me I am thinking erroneously.

For my neighbor is simply I living next door.

For if he is my neighbor I am his.
I am living next door.
Or across the street.

For he is much the same kind of fellow I am.
And I am much the same kind of fellow he is.

He goes forth in the morning to his work as I do.
Or as I should if I am the kind of individual I should be.

He dreams of advancement.
So do I.
He has obligations.
So have I.

He wants to be a pretty good citizen of the world.
So do I.
He wants to be understood.
So do I.

He has his troubles and worries and cares.
So have I.

He likes a friendly smile and a cordial hand-
clasp.
So do I.
He is anxious that his business affairs shall prosper
so he may be able to help needy people.
Discharge his obligations.
So do I.

Then we meet sometimes and talk.
And I find that he is just as eager for good government as I am.
He may differ as to the means.
That is his right.

My neighbor.
He is I living next door or across the street.
And I am just he.
Living next door and across the street.
Both seeking to hold our jobs and to advance
a little and do a part of the world's work.
Children in the human family doing chores.

SONGS OF THE POETS

Past—By John Galsworthy (1867 —)

The clocks are chiming in my heart
Their cobweb chime;
Old murmurings of days that die,
The sob of things a-dripping by.
The clocks are chiming in my heart!

The stars have twinkled, and gone out—
Fair candles blown!
The hot desires burn low, and wan
Those ash fires, that flamed anon.
The stars have twinkled, and gone out!

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

The contest for "the most beautiful hand" in southern California is supposed to bar the royal flush.

Possibly the delay in recognition of Mexico is due to the fact that the Mexicans smoke an inferior brand of cigarettes.

Americans who think they have to go to Paris to be wicked are strangely ignorant of the resources of their own New York.

The 5-cent loaf of bread is among the few articles of food that have scored a come-back.

Time was when the smoothest liar was the greatest diplomatist.

Every murder with firearms provokes a protest against deadly weapons. Nothing ever comes of it.

Nevada is in rather small business in picking on little Miss Pickford.

"Bar Sunday Circuses" says a headline. Probably has nothing to do with Billy.

The new chief of police in Los Angeles says no strings are tied to him. Not yet but soon.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THE ENCOURAGEMENT OF CRIME

[New York Times]

If somebody proposed to start a Society for the Encouragement and Protection of Crime; if some cynic in the legislature suggested that the state give a bounty to deserving criminals, what a hullabaloo
there would be! Yet the law and its administration
do distinctly encourage and protect crime; and there are societies of well-meaning folk that work unintentionally for the same purpose. An interview with Commissioner Enright in yesterday's Times contains
this significant passage:

"The commissioner read from papers on his desk
a list of well-known criminals who had either been released on bail or freed by suspended sentences.
Such cases as these add greatly to the difficulties
of police work at such times as the present," he said.
"There should be some remedy for the case with which old criminals get bail, often for the purpose of escaping the 'line-ups' and identification, or to renew their criminal activities. The records of these men are furnished by the police, records based on facts which should not be ignored, and yet the offenders go free, and the rights of the citizen and the question of the safety of property apparently are overlooked in disposing of such cases."

Only last week, for instance, a gunman killed in a Bronx hold-up had been released on a suspended sentence after pleading guilty to burglary. Availing themselves of the easy privilege of bail, criminals are let loose to ply their trade. Thus the law defeats its object and stimulates recidivism. Thus the suspended sentence, in mistaken kindness to the criminal, is cruel to society and delivers him to prey upon it. High bail should be required in serious offenses. Probation and the suspended sentence should be resorted to more sparingly, and not at all if there are not effectual, ample means of following up every case. Finally, the community should be more zealous to protect itself and less concerned about the "poor, unfortunate," much-beslobbered

criminal.

People of common sense and without leaky lachrymal ducts will agree with the police commissioner
that "society should see to it by notifying parole boards, probation societies, prison associations and all the uplift groups that they must keep hands off known criminals and leave them to the proper penalties provided by law." Judge Rosalsky of the court of general sessions sounds a similar warning to the innocent but too eager crime protectionists:

"Societies originally formed for the purpose of trying to reform criminals now seem to be trying to reform the sentences imposed by judges."
This excessive tenderness for criminals must be checked. The farce of catching criminals only to let them go and commit more crimes must end.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

"Collusion," that elusive thing so dear to the divorce judge who desires to withhold the decree prayed for, appears frequently. It serves to make many a hateful tie continue to bind. If the judicial estimate of it is in promotion of justice or of human happiness,
the judicial mind is able to discern in it a quality
the ordinary observer cannot see even faintly.

In a recent case in this county the wife based her suit on desertion. The husband had gone away and left her, this was certain. The court wanted to know if she was sorry over his absence. She was not. On the contrary, she was glad to be rid of him, and wanted the separation made permanent. "Collusion," said the judge, and that settled it.

From this it appears that if one party to a marriage contract wants the bonds sundered, and the other party opposes such course, there is a chance for the prayer to be granted. If both parties want the bonds sundered, thus increasing by 100
per cent the reason for allowing such outcome,
there is no chance.

One of the professional reformers in Los Angeles wants the chief of police to be taken out of politics by making the office elective. This is a singular idea. How such a change would remove the place from politics is a little difficult to figure.

Various gentlemen of more or less distinction hold public positions to which they have been chosen by the free and sometimes untrammelled voter. Nevertheless most of them have been known to dabble prehensile fingers in the political pie. In this manner they acquired the plume.

The state of Nevada is trying to prove that one of the divorces granted by grace of its courts, should not have been granted. The recipient of the divorce has in the meantime married again, most happily, as appears. To set forth now that the present union is illegal would be a contemptible piece of business. Nobody will believe that it has been undertaken in good faith or with admirable purpose.

Nevada long has been notorious for its readiness to lend sanction to the procuring of divorces by questionable methods. If in the Pickford case, this was the course pursued by the now suddenly virtuous commonwealth, no precedent was being established on that occasion.
If there is ground for regarding as to this one episode, countless other divorces become morally involved, and their integrity is attacked.

The only proper, or even decent resolution of Nevada in the circumstances, would be to forget its former shortcomings and to sin no more.

The death of Mayor Brown of Riverside a few days ago was singularly like that of Congressman-elect Van de Water. Mr. Brown had just been chosen to office. Mr. Van de Water had so recently been chosen that he had not gone to his post of duty.

Each of the men was killed while driving an automobile, and both by impact with a standing truck.

If deadly weapons were sold only to respectable persons, for example, householders of good character, and not allowed to be carried save through police permit, and for sound reasons, a long step would have been taken towards checking crime.

As it is, any thing may buy any kind of a firearm. Every bandit, most drug fiends, most people who for any reason apprehend interference from the police, have pistols, or knives. They get these by purchase in the open market.

Drunks and rowdies taken to jail for mere disturbance of the peace, often have deadly weapons about their persons. They may be fined for the disturbance. Nobody ever hears that they are punished for carrying firearms.

"They knew that here was something of tremendous, unbelievable power, with which they might not be able to cope. More than that, a nameless, unknown something which might crush them, a thing that throbbed with desire for conflict, a thing which surged with wolf-like eagerness at sight of its quarry."

What's all this anyhow? Is a correspondent about to launch upon a description of the second battle of the Marne? Perhaps the crash of a mighty dam has loosed a flood that bears down upon the lowlands, swallowing all in its path. Perhaps the dreadful tornado is heard afar leveling the monarchs of the forest, and borne on lurid clouds toward the awed and trembling spectators. It may be that miles of blazing timber seethe and roar, threatening all living things, devastating as the pictured day of doom.

No sir. None of these. Nothing like any of them.
The fact is that a reporter—good reporter, too—is telling the world about the meeting of two elevens on the gridiron.

"Not peace but war! That is the point to which the Washington conference is bringing the American people!"—Yawp of a Hearstling.

Life is short. The brief span is crowded with duties. Among these duties is not that of saying much about piffle of this character.

"Face it who dare. Disprove it who can!" So concludes the yawp. And still there doubtless are some who take such stuff seriously.

Hearst would be a peril to the country if a respectable minority believed him. As it is, he is an irritant, but a diversion.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

In the smoking car last night were a travelling salesman for one company and the head of the sales department of another company. Of course they talked shop. Most of us do, that being the one thing that has a perennial interest for most of us. Most of the talk went by me as unregarded as the wind, their shop not being my shop. A chance remark awakened me.

"Why did you fire John Jones?" asked the travelling salesman.

"He didn't know his business," said John Jones' recent boss.

The travelling salesman defended the fired John Jones. He said he was a good fellow, that he had lots of friends on the road, that he was square, that he always sold top-notch bills, that he had a sweet little wife, and that he worked hard. The other man admitted all this.

"But can you tell me," he asked, "why Jones kept losing customers?"

John's recent boss explained. No one ever had a complaint to make of John Jones, but the customers took their business elsewhere. One day he was talking matters over with Jones when the latter picked up a lump of something on the sales manager's desk.

"What's that?" he asked.

"That's where I fired him," said the sales manager, grimly. "That happened to be a lump of a certain material Jones had been selling with a good deal of success. It was of great value to certain customers in certain communities but of no value at all in other communities. John did not know that. He had the patter of salesmanship at his tongue's end, he was a fine man, but he had never had curiosity enough about his own business to take one single look at the article he sold. I questioned him further and found that he knew almost nothing about his line. He had parroted what we told him to say, but he had not been sufficiently interested to inform himself independently."

That's why John lost his job.

DO YOU KNOW THAT?

Some time ago the feat of measuring the enormous star Betelgeuse, in Orion, put astronomy on the first page of the newspapers. A few other stars have since been measured, and one of them, Antares, in the constellation of Scorpio, turns out to be much bigger than Betelgeuse. Its diameter is something like 420, 000,000 miles.

Twelfth-Night Party At McLaughlin Whites

Friday afternoon Glendale was the scene of a unique event, a Twelfth Night party given by Mrs. Loughlin White at her home, 519 Raleigh street, for members of the Los Angeles Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mrs. White was born a Virginian and her mother, grandmother and great-grandmother always had a twelfth-night party when the Christmas tree was lighted for the last time and the Christmas greens were dismissed. It was the crowning festivity of the Christmas season when the wassail cup was passed and toasts were drunk to the health, happiness and continued friendship of all present.

The guest of honor yesterday was Mrs. S. R. Hendricks whose 85th birthday was celebrated. When the company was invited to the dining room about 3:30, they gathered about a very beautiful table gay with poinsettias strewn with the cloth, offset by the greenery of ferns and smilax. A huge bowl of hot wassail, compounded according to an ancient recipe, was at one end of the board, at the other a lovely cake, bearing the 85 candles which illuminated the scene, and which was placed in front of Mrs. Hendricks.

Standing at the head of the table, the beloved hostess explained the twelfth-night customs and the legends which surrounded them. Taking a cup of the fragrant, steaming wassail, she gave the customary toast to the company and passed the cup to her neighbor, Mrs. Annie Burton, past state president of the Daughters of the Confederacy. All joined hands while Mrs. Burton gave the toast to loyalty. She in turn passed it to Mrs. Emanuel who gave the southern toast. To Mrs. Hendricks the cup then went, a splendid representative of her generation who was attended by her daughters, Mrs. Crutchen, her grand-daughter, Mrs. Arthur Hutchason, who is a fine vocalist and entertained the company with songs before the toasts were given, and Mrs. Hutchason's beautiful little son, Bobbie Hutchason and baby daughter Virginia May, four generations being thus represented.

The customary response was made by Mrs. Hendricks who passed the cup to Captain J. D. Shaw of this city. Following his toast Captain Shaw made an impressive talk in which he said he was irresistibly reminded of ships that pass in the night. "Your bark, as Daughters of the Confederacy, is turned toward the east, the new street, assisted by Mrs. McKeever and Mrs. Bolte. The ladies brought many useful articles for the maternity hospital that is nearly completed at the Christian Center in Los Angeles.

A fine program, consisting of music, devotionals and an interesting letter by Mrs. McElroy of her recent trip through the south and east. The hostesses served dainty refreshments. About 30 of the members of the class were present.

MRS. W. F. MacPHERSON
HOSTESS AT CLUB MEET

The Auction Science club was entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. F. MacPherson, 464 Patterson avenue. Table decorations were carried out in violets and marigolds. A very pleasant afternoon was spent in playing cards. First prize being awarded to Mrs. Herbert Balthis, which was a pretty linen towel. The guests were Mrs. Lester Jones, Mrs. Hilliard of Los Angeles, Mrs. F. J. Rogers, Mrs. Heloise Bondeaux, Mrs. T. J. Medick, Mrs. Herbert Balthis and Mrs. Edger Bechley.

The next meeting will be held two weeks from Friday at the home of Mrs. F. J. Rogers.

THORNCROFT BOYS
WERE ENTERTAINED

A group of well-known entertainers, for the most part residents of Glendale, gave an evening's delightful entertainment for the disabled veterans at Thorncroft sanitarium Wednesday evening, January 4. The affair was day," he said. "With me today as former comrades in arms are two others, M. A. Bigham and Dr. W. C. Harrison, ex-general of the confederate army. That is about the proportion in which we meet now. Our ships are going toward the setting sun in the dark, but we look to you to carry on the work we lay down."

Mrs. Hendricks followed with a little talk in which she took exception to the phrasing of Captain Shaw, declaring her belief that all mortals should face the light, and that whatever comes to them there is light awaiting rather than darkness.

When all the toasts had been drunk the company united in singing "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and adjourned to the table for coffee and cake. At this time Mrs. Emanuel made an informal visit before taking auto for the return trip to Los Angeles.

Mrs. White's home was charmingly dressed with Christmas wreaths and a very beautiful tree, fairly loaded with ornaments illuminated the corner which it filled, where little Bobbie Hutchason had a delightful time with a lot of mechanical toys.

Covers were laid for about 40, the guest list including Mrs. S. B. Hendricks, her daughters Mrs. L. B. Crutchen and Mrs. Whitte; Mrs. Marvin Johnson, second vice-president of the Pacific division, U. D. C.; Mrs. John Burton, Mrs. Ida Morrison, Mrs. Frank Galvin, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. John P. Tite, Jr., Mrs. Mary C. Emanuel, her daughter Mrs. Jones; Mrs. Ella S. Miller, Mrs. Henrietta Hoyl, Mrs. Fannie Elson, Mrs. D. W. James and son W. James, Mrs. Hoge, Mrs. Wygal, Mrs. McClanahan, Mrs. Meisterman, Mrs. Dempsey, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bigham, Captain J. D. Shaw, Dr. W. C. Harrison, Miss Katie Shaw, Mrs. Ethel McMillan, Mrs. A. R. Bolton, and others, including the mother of the hostess, Mrs. Harriet M. White.

Next year the twelfth-night party will bring together the same guests but will follow the old English lines. The cake will contain a bean. Whoever receives that will be queen of the revels with the privilege of choosing the king to reign with her. It is possible to bid for the bean and the privilege it carries, and it will probably be a gay contest.

Captain Shaw, who was one of the honor guests, is to give the toast to "The Women of the Sixties" at the reception to be given the afternoon of January 19 at the Alexandria hotel in Los Angeles in celebration of Robert E. Lee and the birthday of Stonewall Jackson, by various chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

staged under the direction of George Larkin. The program follows:

Dialect readings—Miss Frances Edmonde.

Southern melodies—Miss Ruth Roland.

Spanish songs—Miss Viola Yorba.

Operatic selections—Agnes Kane Brown, accompanied by Harry Girard.

Act exquisite—a dancing number—George Larkin, accompanied by Myrna Kennedy and Ollie Kirby presenting the Specialty waltz, the Argentine tango, the Whirlwind fox-trot, the Jazz Specialty and the Beggar Gypsy Maid.

At the Rattray, Jim Simpson and Lang Meredith with their jazz syncopation livened up the evening with snappy numbers.

JUNIOR MUSIC CLUB
POSTPONED SESSION

The next meeting of the junior auxiliary of the Glendale Music club, instead of being held tonight will be held at the home of Mrs. Spencer Robinson, 1234 East Wind-sor road, Saturday evening, January 14. A miscellaneous program is being arranged.

Hereafter, the regular meetings of the auxiliary will be held on the second and fourth Saturday evenings of the month, instead of the first and third.

The juniors are planning a program of which they will have full charge, which will be given before the parent club Friday evening, January 20. It will be an open night to which guests can be invited.

A SONG ON MILO WHEAT by T. W. McConnell

You ask me, friends; why really, now, I haven't much to say; But I am sure that Milo Wheat is for the best today. Now, some things let me speak about. That you may plainly see When folks once taste of MILO WHEAT. You'll need no other plea. For folks who eat this food, I'm sure you will hear say: "For strength, health and every ill."

It's best, we know today; We're living now on MILO WHEAT. Our bank account will grow, For we can have a good square meal. For three cents now you know. You know our days are perilous times. When all will have a test. The cheapest and the best. It will not be so very long Till we will hear the call For MILO WHEAT from every class. Both rich, poor, large and small.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH IN ANNUAL MEET

Report Shows Fine Progress of Active Membership

The annual meeting of the Christian church proved to be a very enjoyable event with a larger attendance than was anticipated. The reports of the pastor, Rev. L. G. Parker, and those of the treasurer of the church and the various organizations, reflected a very satisfactory, even encouraging, condition. The report of Joseph Ligier, treasurer, shows a large balance in the treasury while the report of Mrs. Thedaker of the Ladies' Aid Society shows that $400 was taken in through the bazaar and food sales and other sources of revenue. Mrs. Parker reported for the missionary society that $135 had been collected during the year and then turned over to the missionary board.

The report of Rev. Parker represented the entire 22 months of his pastorate here. During this time the membership has been increased by 88. He also spoke of the building work which had been done which includes the painting of the church, inside and outside; the installation of a cesspool and toilets in the church and the erection of the parsonage and the annex to the church which has just been completed.

At this meeting, Mr. Ligier tendered his resignation as treasurer but it was not accepted, but to assist him in the work which he has been difficult to handle, W. R. Lemasters was elected.

The business meeting was preceded by an excellent supper provided by the ladies of the church. Music was enjoyed at the conclusion of the supper. About 100 were present at the meeting.

BURBANK GETS NEW DISTINCTION

In the entire country, Burbank stands out as a shining light in the matter of a building record and now it is a matter of figures in black and white, figures given out by Manager Fred Deal of Glendale, that this city ranks first of the entire Pacific coast in the net gain of telephones for the year of 1921. This net gain is 127 while the percent of increase is 20.33.

It is one more fact to add to the letters that go east to the "home folks" and another indisputable statement to quote to those who come here seeking a home or a place of investment.

The only disadvantage to this remarkable record is that when one wants a phone installed and needs it in a hurry, there is nothing to do but wait, for at least a month and perhaps longer. For Burbank and Lankershim there are now 64 orders ahead, orders which have been hanging up for several weeks. At the present time there are 592 telephones in use in Burbank.

RADIO CLUB NOW AN ACTIVE BODY

The Burbank Radio club is one of the very progressive organizations of the city. It is active; it gets out and does things. On January 18 it will give a dance in army hall but the feature of the evening will be the radio concert which will be given from 8 o'clock to 9 o'clock. Five steps of amplification and a magna box will be used which will increase the volume of sound sufficiently to be heard above conversation and considerable noise. At the close of the radio concert, the Elks' orchestra will furnish the music for the remainder of the entertainment. The club hopes that many will be present as the admission money will be used to purchase equipment.

The officers of the club are L. M. Boy, president; Kenneth Coryell, vice-president; Harold Wilson, secretary; Charles Barnum, treasurer; trustees, W. H. Hardy, Howard Wilson and Charles Barnum.

The name of the club, adopted at the last meeting: Burbank Radio Club, and from this time on the meetings will be held every Thursday night instead of Tuesday night. They are held at the high school and everyone is invited to attend them and invited also, to join the club. This includes girls and women as well as boys and men. The club has been organized but a few weeks but has grown to a membership of about 25, and with the increasing interest that the entire country is taking in radio work, the prospects are for a steadily growing organization in this city.

ENTERTAINMENT BY LIVE COLE CLASS

An interesting program will be given Tuesday evening at the Central Christian church under the auspices of the Live Cole class. The program will include:

Instrumental solo by Miss Dorothy Forbes.

Reading by Miss Nellie Jelson.

Whistling solo by Miss Doris Forbes.

A silver offering will be taken at the door.

MEN'S CLUB HELD FINE MEETING

That Jupiter Pluvius has no terrors for the men of Glendale was again proven when the men's club of the Tropic Presbytery church gathered for its first monthly meeting Friday night. A good number of enthusiastic workers were out and were greeted by Mr. Allen of the Los Angeles city council, who gave the main address of the evening on "Trails."

The keynote of his address was "service," which, Mr. Allen said, gives the deepest satisfaction in life. "Make the trail you follow easier for those who follow you," Mr. Allen urged.

Other features of the program

IMPROVEMENT CONTRACTS LET

Trustees Have Busy Meeting, New Subdivisions Open

The contracts for the improvement of Elmwood avenue from Tenth street to the city limits; Tenth street from Olive avenue to Walnut street and San Fernando boulevard from Verdugo avenue to the east city limits, were let by the board of trustees of the city at the regular meeting Tuesday night. H. S. Cummings of Los Angeles secured the contract for the work on Elmwood and Tenth streets while Napier & Simpson were the lowest bidders for the improvement of San Fernando boulevard. All the bids for the work on Magnolia avenue were rejected.

Maps for subdivisions were presented to the board by Grove Ketchum and John Radcliff. The Ketchum tract covers the territory between Eighth and Tenth streets and Magnolia and Cypress avenue. The Radcliff map includes the property on San Fernando boulevard between Verdugo and Santa Anita avenues. The maps were approved and the dedication of the streets and alleys accepted.

Mr. Hain appeared before the board in regard to the proposed continuing of Santa Anita avenue from Eighth to Tenth streets and also concerning the matter of the grades on Tenth street, at the intersection of Santa Anita and Providencia avenues. The matter was referred to the street committee and the city engineer, Mr. Hartley was also before the board with regard to the continuing of Santa Anita and asked if the city would accept 14 feet on the east side of the street along its property. This was also referred to the street committee.

Mr. Zwalina and Mr. Watson desire a change in the improvement of Eleventh street east of Olive to the city limits, and were before the board in regard to the matter. In addition to the work now under way, they want curbs and gutters, but they were advised that this change could not be made in the present proceeding.

The city engineer reported that he had checked up the petition for the improvement of Providencia avenue and found there was more than the required frontage for the proposed improvement shown on the petition.

"A resolution of the board of trustees declaring their intention to close up and vacate a portion of Fairmont avenue," was read and adopted.

Mr. Clithero appeared before the board and spoke concerning the care of the storm waters of the Sherlock tract. He was advised that the proposed improvement of various streets would take care of the greater proportion of the water.

No. 99 of Los Angeles, will furnish the music for the remainder of the entertainment. The club hopes that many will be present as the admission money will be used to purchase equipment.

The officers of the club are L. M. Boy, president; Kenneth Coryell, vice-president; Harold Wilson, secretary; Charles Barnum, treasurer; trustees, W. H. Hardy, Howard Wilson and Charles Barnum.

The name of the club, adopted at the last meeting: Burbank Radio Club, and from this time on the meetings will be held every Thursday night instead of Tuesday night. They are held at the high school and everyone is invited to attend them and invited also, to join the club. This includes girls and women as well as boys and men. The club has been organized but a few weeks but has grown to a membership of about 25, and with the increasing interest that the entire country is taking in radio work, the prospects are for a steadily growing organization in this city.

There were several baritone selections by Mr. Monroe of Burbank, accompanied by Mr. Moore, principal of the Burbank high school, and short talks by Mr. Moore and Rev. Gage of Orange county.

Everyone went home happy, with a good lunch, furnished by the entertainment committee. The enthusiasm of all present looks well for the future of the club, which will undoubtedly draw men of Tropic closer together and promote the general welfare of the community.

FOSTER BRIDGE CLUB SESSION

The Foster Bridge club was very charmingly entertained Friday at the home of Mrs. C. E. Norton, 324 North Maryland avenue. A delicious five-course dinner was served in honor of the club beginning the new year. A color scheme of pale lavender and pink was carried out throughout the house. Place cards were New Year's greetings.

Following the dinner an afternoon of bridge was enjoyed, the hostess winning high score. The guests were Mrs. Mabel Rudy, Mrs. Helen Campbell, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. A. H. Lapham, Mrs. F. B. Morse, Mrs. V. M. Tresslar, Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward and Mrs. C. E. Norton, hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stewart of 346 West Dorn street and daughter, Betty Jane, will motor to Pomona Sunday to spend the day with relatives. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Arrella Stewart, Mrs. Louise Stocker, Lorraine and Wilbur Bettis.

Mr. and Mrs. John Manns of Lincoln, Neb., have come to Los Angeles recently and have looked around this vicinity for a home place. They have decided to buy a home in Glendale and will make it their permanent home.

LARGE NUMBER AT P. T. A. MEETING

Mrs. Roe of Pasadena Makes Address on Work of Ass'n.

There was a large attendance of teachers and mothers at the monthly Parent-Teacher meeting in the Central school building on Wednesday afternoon. After disposing of routine matters, Mrs. A. G. Rely, chairman of the program committee, introduced Mrs. Roe of Pasadena, state organizer of Parent-Teacher federations. She said the national federation was brought together nearly 25 years ago. California is divided into 11 districts, each comprising a county or counties, except the Los Angeles city district, which is federated by itself. The Los Angeles county district is the largest in the state.

As the Eagle Rock association is considering whether to unite with the Glendale federation or to form a local federation, the advice of the organizer was asked. After explaining in detail the federation arrangements and the status of associations in that body, Mrs. Roe expressed the opinion that individuality would be lost by joining Glendale, and recommended a local federation.

Mr. E. H. Harwood, superintendent of the Eagle Rock schools, was present and agreed with the speaker. She stated that three or more associations could form a federation and there must be at least ten members in each association. Eagle Rock having three school districts—the central, east and west end—could, no doubt, fulfill the requirements of organization. On motion, Mrs. Mattie Maddox was appointed chairman of a committee to canvass the west end district to learn the feeling of the mothers there, and Mrs. Alice Utley Jones was appointed for the east end district, each chairman to select her committee. The advantage of having more than one Parent-Teacher association in the community is that the mothers who cannot conveniently go to the central meetings can usually meet in their own neighborhood. They will have the privilege of attending the larger meetings at the center when possible, hearing lectures, etc.

The present association now has 250 members. By unanimous vote $10 from the association's funds will be applied to the purchase of two trees to be planted on the campus of Occidental college, in accordance with the plans for its improvement. Cake and cocoa were served after the meeting was adjourned.

SUNDAY SERVICES
A class of applicants for membership will be received in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, and baptism will also be administered by the pastor, Rev. B. B. Weatherall, followed by the sacrament of the Lord's supper. In the evening the sermon theme will be, "Just the Kindest of Men in the Home." It will be preceded by a song service led by the choir composed of young people. The church's popular soloist, Mrs. Gladys Stewart, will sing, accompanied by R. W. Beers on the violin and Mr. Crosby on the xylophone. The Christian Endeavor services are at 5:15 and 6:15, and the social gathering around the fireplace in the hall is at 7. Sunday school is at 9:30 a. m.

The Congregational Sunday school will convene at 9:45. Rev. Isaac will preach in the morning on "The Unawakened Self," treating of the emergence of the civilized world from traditional theories of total depravity, etc. into the light of the philosophy of Jesus regarding the true nature of man. Young People's meeting will be at 6:30, and evening worship at 7:30. The pastor will speak on "The Mystic Key to Fortune and Happiness."

The driving storm of last Sunday evening prevented many persons from going to the Methodist church to hear the beautiful cantata, "The Story of Bethlehem."

Already over 20 singers have joined the chorus. Meetings are held on Mondays at 2 p. m. in the clubhouse. It is the intention to give several concerts during the year, perhaps assisted by outside talent of note.

which was postponed from Christmas night on account of the weather, and by special request it will be repeated tomorrow morning. There will be an appropriate address by the pastor, Dr. John Hedley. In the evening, at 7:30, he will preach on "The Land of Beginning Again." Sunday school is at 9:45. Epworth League meeting at 6:30.

Opening Sale Sixth Unit at FAIRVIEW

Large lots as low as

$465<sup>50</sup>

$46.55 Cash

$15.00 per Month

Take advantage of the 5 per cent discount which we are giving during our opening sales.

This sixth unit is the last we will have for sale at prices anywhere near those we are now offering.

Nearly one year ago we obtained an option on sixty acres of land where our FAIRVIEW subdivision is now located. As soon as we had sold the first unit acreage prices began to advance very rapidly until now it is impossible to buy any land in this beautiful section at prices that would enable anybody to make the lots as low as they are at FAIRVIEW.

Not only is this the last opportunity to buy from us or anybody else in this section, lots as low as $500.00, but it is also true that the lots in FAIRVIEW will advance proportionately in value when this last unit has been sold, and there are no more to be had.

Other subdivisions in this section are now selling at very much higher prices.

We predict that the Sixth Unit of FAIRVIEW will be sold out in a very short time. If you want to buy a lot in a beautiful location, close to transportation where a great development is taking place, come out today. Bring $50.00 and get a lot.

Reasonable restrictions. Water, gas, electricity and street work. Temporary homes permitted.

Drive out West Broadway and San Fernando Rd. to Vine Ave. (opposite F. L. Meneley Window Shade Factory), then one block to right to tract office at Vine Ave. and 4th St., or phone and we will call and take you out to the tract. The Tract Agent is on the ground every day.

MISTER TROUBLE

JAMES W. FOLEY

Run along, Old Trouble, and don't you bother me,
Take your cares and worries and just you let me be,
Hide your face, Old Trouble, and drive your clouds away,
And don't come back tomorrow—just run along and stay.
I can hear your grumbling, I don't know what about,
And I can hear you mumbling some words I can't make out,
But I'm not going to worry whatever they may be,
So run along, Old Trouble, and don't you bother me.

Run along, Old Trouble, if you be great or small,
I don't want you hanging about my place at all,
I've no welcome for you but a stick that's good and stout,
Better take my warning, now, Old Trouble, and get out.
How you haunt the doorways with your skinny shape and thin,
Some one leaves a tiny crack and, presto, you are in!
Get you off my doorstep now and go back to your gloom,
Or I'll come out to greet you and to beat you with a broom.

Run along, Old Trouble, with your lean and long-drawn face,
I've no welcome for you anywhere about the place,
Get you from my fireside now and get you from my bed,
I've no greeting for you but a neatly broken head.
I don't mind your grumbings and your mumbings and your frowns,
I'm your master, Trouble, and I'm going to keep you down,
So get you off my doorstep now; I'm coming out to you,
And you'll run away, you coward, as you always, always do!

Publicity Work.—The last item of business at the meeting of St. Mark's Guild Thursday afternoon was the appointment of Mrs. F. C. Card as publicity chairman of the organization.

Husbands—Chapter C. J., P.E.O., will entertain their husbands tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Putman, 208 West Elk avenue.

BUY A FORD AND WATCH BABY SMILE

That the baby here pictured is up and coming, ready to "mount on joyful wings," is very evident to any one who looks at her picture. No automobile, Ford or otherwise, will satisfy her ambitions. Twenty years from now we may look to see her holding a captaincy in Glendale's company of air pilots.

The disposition to get there by any swift but sure route is in her blood, for she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Smith of this city, and we all know the kind of man her "dad" is. With him at the head of it, there would be no possible chance for his most active competitor to keep Glendale's Ford agency off the map, and the same zest and pep that he puts into his business and that he put into the service of the country when he entered the army during the war, is manifested in all his civic, religious and social relations. He is one of the most active members of the Glendale chamber of commerce, and is connected with many other organizations in which his stimulating effort is felt.

It is safe to predict that, even should he try, he would not be able to keep his daughter, Margaret Rita Smith, who was nine months old when this picture was taken by Ralph Brown, from getting to the top. She will be a chip off the old block as certain as fate, and one of the most buoyant or, as some would say, she is going to be a block of the old chip some day. Margaret resembles her mother most, which makes it better for Margaret.
